With the introduction of the General Data Protection Regulations (GDPR), UK businesses that are classed as 'data controllers' are obliged to obtain written consent to store customer's personal data. In the framework of the GDPR, Crosshall Marine Limited (hereafter; 'CML') is classed as both a 'data controller' and a 'data processor'. As such, we require all moorers to read our Privacy Notice and to complete a consent slip.

The consent slip can be returned by post, by hand, or electronically (if the slip is printed, signed and then scanned with an original signature). Please ensure that all relevant parties sign the slip (e.g. co-owners, anyone named on the mooring agreement, anyone nominated as a point of contact). If you are an existing moorer and your personal details have changed recently, and CML have not already been informed, please provide updated information in a new consent slip (following page).
